Some professionals would advise against offering such resources for absolutely no fee, but Docusearch believes that customer satisfaction trumps penny pinching. The investigative solutions professionals are dedicated to helping their clients identify all hidden assets, because going through the divorce process is stressful enough. One of their professionals speaks about their dedication to customer happiness:

“At Docusearch, we are advocates for our clients. Whether it means going above and beyond to locate a particular piece of information, or simply offering friendly support to our customers who have purchased services; we treat our customers the way that we would treat our own family. Although it may not be the most conventional approach to offer all of the resources we do at no cost to the customer, we believe that it is morally the right thing to do.”

In addition to offering these resources to their customers, the company has also structured a search directory that is easily navigated. You can search by state or record type filters, allowing visitors to find exactly what they are looking for without much time or effort. Docusearch’s bank account search is organized by state, allowing the customer to pinpoint certain locations in which to find a hidden bank account.

If you are simply researching and trying to find the best bang for your buck, you may appreciate the new Star Ratings feature. This rating tool combines ratings provided by existing and past users to get an accurate rating for the service on a scale of one to five. Docusearch believes that making an informed decision is the smart thing to do. To facilitate their customers, they do their very best to supply them with information and tools that make it easier to make that choice.

“We believe that an informed customer is a happy customer. Through the addition of our rating tool, customers are able to see a real time score of each service in order to determine if the specific search is right for them. Not only is the rating tool useful for our customers, but it shows our employees exactly what our customers are happy with, and what things we could tweak a little. We think that a business should constantly evolve based on the needs of the customer, and with these updates we have done just that."
